

MEN The Cry Today Is For Men---Manly, Upright God Fearing Men

—LISTEN! For two weeks we have been having a glorious meeting at St. John's, and many men have found what is necessary to make men—companionship with the Son of Man, Jesus Christ. Thursday night, the closing meeting, will be made especially interesting and a cordial invitation is extended every man in Anderson to worship with us. The service will begin promptly at 7:45; and anyone contemplating attending the T. P. A. banquet can attend this service and then have ample time to go to the banquet.

ST. JOHN'S—The Friendly Church.

Two Ways to Look At It!

On the one hand

North Anderson is as select a residence section as can be found anywhere—and we will keep it select at any cost.

On the other hand—

We have made it very easy to own a home in North Anderson—so easy in fact,—that there's no excuse for to spend your good money for rent. See us today about our plan.

INSURANCE WRITERS MEET AT COLUMBIA

ANDERSON MEN WILL BE IN ATTENDANCE.

AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

M. M. Mattison of Anderson is a Member of the Executive Committee for the Association.

It was announced in Anderson yesterday that the annual convention of the South Carolina Life Underwriters' association will be held in Columbia Wednesday, October 28, in the city council chamber at 4 p. m. This meeting is of importance to life insurance men of the State and inasmuch as special railroad rates will be in effect for that week, a large attendance is anticipated.

The underwriters will elect officers for the ensuing year and transact such other business as may be presented. It is expected that the delegates will be welcomed by Mayor L. A. Griffith, of Columbia, and F. H. McWister, insurance commissioner.

Officers of the association include F. H. Hyatt, Columbia, president; C. C. Edwards, Chester, and J. C. Diligam, Charleston, vice presidents; W. S. Hendley, Columbia, secretary; treasurer, Carroll H. Jones, Columbia; chairman of the executive committee, Other members are W. J. Roddey, of Rock Hill; Fred J. Parham, of

Why Not Publish It! When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by Evans Pharmacy and all dealers.

Tomorrow

Will See a Splendid Attraction Presented by Able Company at Anderson College.

People in Anderson and people living in surrounding towns are much interested in the first number of the Anderson college lyceum which will be presented Friday night, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. The Neapolitan Orchestra, probably the best attraction of its kind coming South this winter, will be at the college tomorrow evening and the people of this community will be given a real treat. The ladies of the Anderson College Association, under whose auspices the lyceum numbers are arranged, say that they were particularly fortunate in being able to secure such a splendid company to open the course and they feel that they are justly entitled to a tremendous audience tomorrow night.

This orchestra has a really wonderful reputation and those people who attend the performance tomorrow night will have a real treat. Half-price admission has been granted to the school children of the city and many of these will be in attendance, while the seat sale has already been large. The people of Anderson evidently appreciate an attraction of real merit and are willing to patronize it.

CITROLAX CITROLAX

Best thing for constipation, sour stomach, lax liver and sluggish bowels. Stops a sick headache almost at once. Gives a most thorough and satisfactory flushing—no pain, no nausea. Keeps your system cleaned, sweet and wholesome. R. B. Rasmussen, Escanaba, Mich., writes: "Citrolax is a fine laxative, pleasant to take, and does the work in a very thorough manner." Children love it. For sale by Evans Pharmacy.

Court

Will Conclude All its Business Today and Will Probably Reach An Early Adjournment.

After having been in session for two weeks, the Court of Common Pleas for Anderson county will probably dispose of all business before it today and it is believed that adjournment will be reached before noon today.

Yesterday's proceedings were interesting and two cases were disposed of. The third case, which was slated for today, was settled by compromise and accordingly there will be nothing on the docket when Judge Memminger takes his seat this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The first case called yesterday morning was that of J. H. Hill versus A. H. Burris. In this action the plaintiff was suing the defendant for $350, of which sum $100 was actual damages and $250 was punitive damages. This occupied the attention of the jury until about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A verdict was returned for the plaintiff in which the jury awarded $105.25 actual damages and $25 punitive damages to the plaintiff.

The next case called was that of the Anderson Paint and Color Company versus J. H. Shirley, in which he painted people were suing for $110, the dispute arose over the painting of two houses. An agreement was reached between the two parties to the contract by which the two houses were to be painted for $55 and the plaintiff alleged that this sum was $55 for each house, while the defendant understood that it included the painting of both houses. This case went to the jury about 5:30 o'clock and when the hour of adjournment arrived no decision had been reached. The judge instructed the jury to return a sealed verdict and the decision will be announced this morning.

In the case of Owens versus the "hiquola mill, in which the plaintiff is suing the cotton mill for the death of his 14-year-old son, which occurred while the boy was at work in the mill, a compromise was reached and there is no trial will be necessary.

WATSON APPROVES OF WORK UNDERWAY HERE

FOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE MILL VILLAGES.

IS COMMENDABLE

Thinks That Mill People Will Be Much Benefitted by Efforts Now Being Put Forth.

Anderson people will not be surprised to know that the South Carolina Department of Agriculture has learned with interest of the work being done by the officials of the Riverside and Toxaway mills of Anderson, in their efforts to improve conditions for the people employed by them. Anderson people know that a splendid work is being done but no official notice had been received of this work by the Department of Agriculture until Tuesday. The following appeared in the Columbia State yesterday:

"Commissioner Watson has learned with interest of an innovation at the Riverside and Toxaway mills in the city of Anderson. These two mills are under the management of B. B. Gossett, whose father, J. P. Gossett, several years ago at Williamston instituted a series of prizes for the best vegetable gardens and flower gardens in that mill community. Mr. Gossett found the plan to work so well that he extended its operation to the Brogan mills, in Anderson, where the operatives took to it with earnestness and made it a great success.

"The younger Mr. Gossett also tried the plan with success at the Riverside and Toxaway mills last summer and, although it was a hard year on vegetable gardens, the operatives had vegetables to eat and to sell and next year will do even better. The mill company plowed the gardens free of charge and furnished the seed and the fertilizer at cost.

"Greens" for Tables.

"The innovation by B. B. Gossett is a winter garden. He has had an acre or more sowed in kale and turnips and other winter growing vegetables and will teach the operatives how to produce salads and other vegetables for their tables through the winter months. Out of his experiment patch Mr. Gossett will not get much this winter, but he will get a portion of Greens for each family for at least one meal during the winter. Next winter he hopes to see every garden on the mill property producing green things for the operatives to eat through the season when such things are scarce.

"During the summer the Riverside Mills company established a welfare work among its operatives building a neat cottage where the children assemble to play games and the housewives to learn lessons in household economy. There are reading rooms and entertainment rooms and during the winter the company will supply a number of lyceum speakers. The company employs a specialist in welfare work to give cooking lessons and to teach the housewives short cuts in economy.

Timely Innovation.

"Commissioner Watson is deeply interested in the matter of the winter garden at the Riverside mill and wishes to see it quite a success, for just now, as at no other time since the War Between the Sections will the laboring people of the State have to face in earnest the question of providing food for themselves. And not only the mill people but all classes of people, says Commissioner Watson, should begin to make plans to produce next year not alone such vegetables as will be luxuries for their own tables, but also such staple articles of diet as they may be able to store and to market. The great problem before the South for the next 12 months will be one of living at the least expense."

Smoker

Tonight When National and State Officers Visit Local Post of The T. P. A.

Every member of the Travelers' Protective Association belonging to Post D and traveling out of Anderson will try to get home tonight in time for the regular meeting of the association. Tonight will be a big occasion for the local post by reason of the fact that the national secretary, T. S. Logan, of St. Louis, Mo., will visit the post on a trip of inspection tonight and he will be accompanied by State President Livingston and State Secretary Lillard.

The meeting tonight will be somewhat in the nature of a rally and will be held in the rooms of the Anderson chamber of commerce. Extensive addresses will be delivered and it is presumed that Secretary Logan will say a few words. The night is to be one of real interest and one that no T. P. A. should miss.

The evening is to be concluded with a smoker in honor of the visitors and the social side of the evening will prove to be decidedly interesting.
